Legal Name: Munford Professional Services LLC

MunfordCo is a certified MBE, DBE, Native American owned and operated company. Since 2007 we have established ourselves as an accomplished, dependable, consulting firm, construction supplier, and construction equipment sales/rental company. Providing professional services, in the renting, leasing, and selling of construction and industrial equipment along with our, construction supplies services, reaching across the United States to myriad of private industries, military and government agencies. MunfordCo has a long history of providing quality equipment, contract services, and support to our clients. In recent years we have shared our knowledge in government contracting with companies, via our new consulting services operation. We have aligned ourselves with some of the top companies in the country. Alamon, E & M Enterprises, Emerson/Avocent and Big Navajo Energy Company.

Through our relationship with Alamon we provide utility pole inspection services. We apply industry superior technology to the pole inspection process for our clients. This inspection system can provide a utility company with instant, real time, data that will be invaluable in helping them maintain and keep a reliable utility infrastructure. Our clients will have reliable data and information at their fingertips which in turn will help them reach huge reduction in time commitments and labor costs. The old primitive way of pole inspections can do more harm than good. Our process is very accurate, non-destructive, high tech, cost effective, fast and reliable.

Munfordco is now venturing into green sustainable energy solutions for its client base. JouleBox and the Humless Portable Generators are a few green energy solutions, which change the way energy is produced and delivered.

The JouleBox is a self-contained energy production system which can provide reliable, low cost energy to any size facility. Industrial, Commercial, and Residential, any size, and any location, grid free, energy solutions. JouleBox is providing green, grid free, and very affordable energy solutions for its industrial and government clients.
